SAVANNAH, Ga. - Members of the Armstrong Atlantic State University men's and women's tennis teams spent Saturday morning lending a helping hand to America's Second Harvest of Coastal Georgia, pitching in to put together food packages that will be distributed to the Coastal Empire's less fortunate.

The top-ranked and three-time defending champion Lady Pirates and the current No. 2-ranked Pirates took time out from their undefeated 2011 seasons to visit the food bank on East President Street in Savannah. The student-athletes involved in the project (complete photo below) include: Alida Muller-Wehlau, Kathleen Henry, Barbora Krtickova, Tina Ronel, Jessica Gardefjord, Joanna Szymczyk and Aleksandra Filipovski from the Lady Pirates and Mikk Irdoja, Eudaldo Bonet, Matus Mydla, Pedro Scocuglia, Daniel Regan, Rafael Array, Gavin Davison and Georgi Rumenov from the Pirates. Head coach Simon Earnshaw and assistant coach David Secker also took part.

America's Second Harvest of Coastal Georgia serves as the warehouse and distribution center for our collaboration of partner non-profits. They pick up or receive truckloads of food that are donated daily by local and national grocers, businesses, and individuals. Second Harvest inspects, sorts, and stocks donated items in our 30,000 square foot warehouse. Donations are supplemented with purchased items. Fresh and non-perishable products are distributed to more than 300 nonprofit agencies in a 21-county service delivery area that includes both urban and rural communities.
